Starting off with a mystery story called "The Laverna Incident", it revolves around detective Jake, a 31-year-old detective, who is burnt-out and simply running through the motions in his life. Only caring about the next paycheck Jake is given a case that quickly becomes personal. His suspect, a young man named Eli, age 25 who was arrested at a gruesome crime scene takes Jake down a mind-bending roller coaster of fear, paranoia, and hate.

Transitioning into another thriller called the "Transparency", it turns out its anything but transparent. Sam a recently promoted detective eagerly wants to impress Paul, a washed up out of touch detective at the end of his rope. While giving his best work Sam goes above and beyond trying to showcase his skills, yet Paul cares more about his next meal than he does the dead prostitute. Although Paul shows little concern over the crime scene, secretly, he loathes the villain that continues to elude capture.

The third short story in this mini-series is "Prisoner MR 62-7". Taking place in the distant future when an oppressive system chews up and spits people out. Marcus is arrested back on Titan as a terrorist sympathizer for protesting the Solaris Corporation. Spending years in a Martian maximum-security prison with little hope of escape, he is handpicked for a special corporate restoration detail to fix up an abandoned mining asteroid. From the moment he learns of this unusual detail, Marcus begins to hatch a brilliant plan to escape and return to his daughter back on Titan. Unfortunately, for both the prisoners and guards there is a very good reason why it was abandoned.
